engagement in the Voluntary National Reviews (VNRs) at the HLPF 2022" (31 Jan 2022)

Channels for Input:

Governments' VNR Reports

- Not enough time/space to present a comprehensive picture of reality (10-15 minutes)
- Governments typically...
 - focus almost exclusively on positive news or strengths in their work toward SDGs leave gaps in the story
 - include little or no input from civil society
- Civil society role:
 - observe and fill gaps in governments' reports to help the world hear and understand the whole story
 - hold governments accountable for all SDGs identify good policies and programmes that are accelerating progress toward SDGs (or have the potential to accelerate it)

Channels for Civil Society Input:

Channels for Civil Society Input:

Independent SDG Progress Reports from National Civil Society Networks

- At least one network has assembled in nearly every nation to participate in monitoring of SDG implementation
- Employ different methods of collecting input from development organisations and community leaders in their respective countries
- Some very active and generate independent reports to supplement government reports at the HLPF
- Typically open to participation of individuals representing NGOs and faith institutions
